The Exhibition

Asia Fashion Fair (AFF) was established in 2003 and has held 46 editions, making it one of Japan's most representative and longest-running textile and apparel trade shows. Focusing on OEM/ODM trade, the exhibition showcases a wide range of products, including textiles, garments, accessories, home goods, and gifts. It is an ideal platform for Asian enterprises to enter the Japanese market and connect with Japanese clients.

Japan's textile market is highly developed and heavily reliant on imports from overseas. According to statistics, 97.9% of the apparel products in Japan are imported from countries such as China, Vietnam, Bangladesh, Indonesia, Cambodia, Myanmar, India, and Thailand .

With GDP in Japan ranking among the highest in the world, the country offers strong consumer purchasing power and vast market potential. As a representative Asian textile and apparel trade show in Japan, AFF is well-known among professional buyers across the nation. Each year, AFF attracts buyers from all over Japan, making it a highly efficient platform for exhibitors to meet new clients and conduct trade negotiations. Additionally, AFF provides a valuable opportunity to gain insights into the latest trends in the Japanese industry and network with top manufacturers in the field.
